ABOUT THIS GUIDE

This guide lists the financial institution (FI) data sources for which the position lot (also known as tax lot) capability is supported by the service, as well as those for which it is known that the position lot capability cannot be supported.

For more detail about position lots, refer to <http://www.byallaccounts.net/Manuals/Accountview/PositionLotsOverview.pdf>.

Note: the changes made on August 6, 2020 were to update the list of FIs that support position lots. There were no functionality changes.

OVERVIEW

A position lot is the record of the purchase of a “lot” of a security that is used for determining taxes related to capital gains and losses. The lot includes key information about the purchase such as security transacted upon, the date of purchase, and the purchase price. Positions lots may be referred to as “position lots”, “lots”, or “tax lots”. These terms are interchangeable.

ByAllAccounts can support gathering open position lots from financial institution data sources that report that data and for which support has been engineered at ByAllAccounts. It does not support the aggregation of closed lots.

ByAllAccounts already supports position lot gathering for many currently-supported data sources, which are listed in “Data Sources that Currently Support Position Lots”, page 2. ByAllAccounts can add support for lots to any currently-supported institution if that institution reports lot data in a way that can be efficiently gathered. There is a one-time fee to add tax lot support to an institution if that support has not already been developed. However, there are some data sources for which support cannot be engineered, and they are listed in “Data Sources that Cannot Support Position Lots”, page 8.

The position lot capability is supported by AccountView, Custodial Integrator (PortfolioCenter, Universal, Axys, APX), and DataConnect API. It is not supported by Custodial Integrator TLM or TOD, or by other applications not listed here.

The data provided for position lots varies by the variant of Custodial Integrator (Universal, PortfolioCenter, etc.) so please refer to the Custodial Integrator User Guide for your variant for these details. If you use the DataConnect API directly please refer to the DataConnect User Guide.

You must have the position lot capability enabled for your firm before you can use position lot features provided by the service. Technical support can enable the position lot feature for you. You must make a manual aggregation request to obtain position lot data; position lot data is not aggregated automatically on a nightly basis.
